

ABOUT THE NONPROFIT & THE EVENT

Project Blackbird, Inc. is a non-profit 501(c)(3) and corresponding live touring event that aims to encourage conversations around the crises and stigma around mental illness and eating disorders within underrepresented communities nationwide. Through a programmatic tour of the award-winning short film BLACKBIRD and a celebrity panel discussion featuring NFL and/or NBA mental health advocates alongside Project Blackbird founder Alexandra Miles, the event encourages and empowers participants to confront mental health struggles in their lives that may be causing them shame in order to give those situations less power, and provides participants with local, national, and campus resources to begin the journey toward recovery and self-acceptance.

Recent events include panels at the Sundance Film Festival, South by Southwest (SXSW), and the Cannes Film Festival.

TESTIMONIALS FROM ATTENDEES & HOSTS

"Bringing Project Blackbird to GW began a really important conversation on campus around eating disorders and mental health. There can be so much stigma around these topics; inviting Project Blackbird allowed us to gauge the comfort level of our students and understand where they are coming from." - Student Affairs, George Washington University

"Experiencing the life-changing impact of Project Blackbird firsthand has been truly amazing. I have witnessed beautiful conversations unfold after an event, with many participants just beginning their mental health journey." - NAMI Central Texas

"Project Blackbird is a shining light on how to destigmatize and change the narrative in mental health. Conversation through film is a powerful medium to help people understand, relate, and engage in sometimes hard, but very important, conversations." - Anonymous Audience Member

ATHLETE-FOCUSED EVENTS

Project Blackbird has a live event that is tailored to collegiate student-athletes that includes a panel discussion featuring a sports star from the NFL or NBA. We have partnerships with both the NFL Players' Association and the NBA Players' Association, with additional partnerships in development. These events help student-athletes understand that they are not the only ones dealing with the unique situation of balancing their studies with practices, games, and the toll that can take on their mental health.

Our outstanding panel, featuring @coreycoleman, @easie91, and @moneymarc91, passionately delved into NFL and Athlete perspectives on mental health, sparking meaningful conversations and striving to normalize conversation everywhere. We are so excited to continue sharing some impactful snippets from our SxSW conversation...stay tuned!

#SHEDSHAME 2025 EATING DISORDER- FOCUSED EVENTS

An event more directly addressing and focusing on Eating Disorders, this event debunks myths, addresses the signs and struggles of an eating disorder, the discrepancies in treatment and awareness, how to support, amongst other topics. We shed light on the various struggles that might lead to eating disorder behaviors and/or an eating disorder diagnosis, and tailor the resource fair to specific eating disorder resources. General mental health providers and resources are also present, but this event highlights the eating disorder topic more specifically.

GENERAL MENTAL HEALTH

This is our standard event for both high school and college students, though the content of the panel discussion can be adjusted depending on the age range of the attendees.

This panel features Alexandra (Founder, Project Blackbird), Kendra ("the original Blackbird" whose story is depicted in the short film Blackbird), and a celebrity panelist who would be a draw for students in that particular market/region/school. The conversation will focus generally on mental health, how to shed shame around mental health issues, and encourage attendees to take advantage of Project Blackbird's offer of free therapy through a partnership with Talkspace.

#SHEDSHAME 2025 MENTAL HEALTH AND FILM (SOCIAL IMPACT)

This type of event will open with the full, 13-minute film Blackbird, but unlike other events, this panel will focus more on the film itself and how it is being used to create social change through an evergreen social impact campaign. The panel discussion will feature Alexandra (Founder, Project Blackbird and producer/actress in Blackbird) and award-winning impact producer Kait Halibozek, and will discuss how film and media is such a powerful tool to address social issues and educate the public.

#SHEDSHAME 2025 FILM FESTIVAL

PROJECT BLACKBIRD has been presented at Sundance 2024, Cannes Film Festival 2024, SxSW 2024, TIFF (Toronto International Film Festival) 2024, and Festival of Cinema New York City 2024. This conversation is tailored similarly to the "mental health in film" panel, and involves an expanded panel of actors and filmmakers and a discussion of mental health in narrative filmmaking and diverse representation. This is followed by a networking event involving gifts from like-minded health and wellness brands to enhance mental and physical health and connection at the film festivals.
